

Ms. Marlene H. Dortch, Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
45 L Street NE
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Enclosed please find the signatures and comments of 4,858 of Free Press members urging the Federal Communications Commission to investigate its own history of racism and examine how its policy choices and actions have harmed Black people and other communities of color.

The petition reads:

“Since a police officer murdered George Floyd last year, the ensuing racial reckoning that’s taken place in our country has forced public and private institutions to acknowledge their history of racism.

Journalists of color have challenged several major media organizations to address the harm they’ve inflicted within their newsrooms and in communities of color at large. But media institutions alone are not responsible for the anti-Black racism that exists in our media system. Federal policies and the choices that lawmakers and regulators have made have also played a foundational role.

This is why we are calling on the Federal Communications Commission to investigate its own history of racism and examine how its policy choices and actions have harmed Black people and other communities of color.

We urge the FCC to conduct this investigation in the spirit of President Joseph Biden’s executive order on racial equity, which directs government agencies to examine how “entrenched disparities in our laws and public policies, and in our public and private institutions, have often denied that equal opportunity to individuals and communities.”

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Best,

Joseph Torres
Senior Director of Strategy and Engagement
Free Press/Free Press Action

You owe it to our country to face structural racism in the FCC's history since you regulate how much of America gets its history about structural racism!

—Lorraine Hartmann, Seattle, WA

Your actions and inactions regarding this and all related concerns have been, are being and will be remembered by all of us who will live in the world that you are shaping with your decisions right now, in addition to being a matter of public record. We are all on it together.

Environmental emergencies are affecting everybody's health and livelihood, and will do so for generations to come. All issues need to be considered as facets of the critical state of the biosphere. Given the consistency with which each current and foreseeable crisis has been weaponized against the vulnerable majority of the population of the United States of America and the world, and the exceptional leniency and overwhelming subsidization of any industry which creates and perpetuates such crises, any failure on your part to directly address and act upon these issues can only be seen as complicity in a clearly genocidal agenda.

—Steven Nasta, New City, NY

PLEASE TAKE THE RIGHT, FAIR, JUST, HUMANE AND HEALTHY ACTION, i.e. Investigate its Role in Perpetuating Racism in Our Media System

—Dr. Mary Ann and Frank Graffagnino, Prescott, AZ

It is way past time. Please act now to save our media and the nation. Too many outlets spew fascist crap 24/7.

—Anne Cowden, Ashland, OR

Media is only partly responsible for anti-Black racism, Federal policies made it all possible.

—Susan Selbin, Albuquerque, NM

Time for action is now.

—David Shokenu, Tacoma, WA

everybody know th media is racist and it's time they own up to it, address it publicly and correct it

—Audrey Ross, tucson, AZ

In a democracy, no class of citizens should be treated -- or portrayed -- differently from another class.

—Michael Beyries, Surprise, AZ

The recent Supreme Court rulings and those at the state level are increasingly alarming and eroding our civil liberties and civil rights as well as threatening the very core of our Democracy. All journalists (not talking heads who spout lies) must be protected. Structural racism and discrimination must be dealt with and eradicated within all agencies of government!

—Roseann Duchon, Columbus, OH

We know that racism exists, now lets do something about changing the damage that has been done and make the future better for all races and ethnicities !

—Ken Lawson, Cohasset, CA

It's clearly way beyond time to address these glaring inequities.

—James Chalfant, Rockport, ME

It is long past time for an FCC racial reckoning.

—Pietro G. Poggi, Oakland, CA

Racist policies and sentiment have been baked into the proverbial cake of US journalism—before there was a republic. With all the chatter about Critical Race Theory, the FCC ought to take a long hard look at the decisive role our media system embraces, indulges, and underwrites systemic racism.

—Kevin Howley, Bloomington, IN

Also, why isn't Txxxp in jail awaiting trial for TREASON? If you're a supporter of Txxxp.....why?..... did you have a stroke? Something is really wrong with your analytical and observational faculties. Get a check up.

—Don Pew, Girard, OH

Please get this into the public and national news broadcasts.

—Ann Redig, Rochester, MN

Dismantling systemic racism is essential if America is to survive. It will take the same effort and commitment as was put into building the racist system over centuries. It is past time to get started acknowledging and dismantling racist rules and structures.

—Larry Lawton, Aberdeen, WA

We need to abolish systemic racism in media, journalism, newsrooms, across the board in America! Including Federal policies and the choices law makers & regulators make that affects The Free Press.

Federal Communications Commission: 1) INVESTIGATE Y O U R OWN HISTORY OF RACISM, and 2) EXAMINE HOW Y O U R POLICY CHOICES AND ACTIONS HAVE HARMED BLACK AND OTHER COMMUNITIES OF COLOR IN THE U.S.

—JL Keith, Providence, RI

The only way the ugliness of racism gets unwound is for organizations, businesses, governments, and individuals to look hard at their actions and the history of their actions. Nearly all will find racism to some degree as SOP. That is the starting step to the unwinding. M.Krall -----

I think it's great that we're going after the newsrooms. That's because it's so tempting to find one source and treat them as the only valid one. However, I also think we need to target the laws that encourages this and the people that defend them.

—Lauren Tucker, Tallahassee, FL

—Elizabeth smith, Kansas City, MO

Someone's pulling the strings to keep this action undetected, until now thanks to some in-depth probs for real news within their company.

—Luther N Mason, Durham, NC

Our nation, as a result of many factors, should now be at a point where it's imperative for us to admit, study, confront, and attempt to begin to rectify the grotesque injustices which are integral to our history and status. No aspect can justifiably be spared from this reckoning, and that includes media.

—Frederick Klein, Somerville, MA

This whole country is proving just how racist the majority are; just ask the Supreme Court who just allowed for OBVIOUSLY intentional racist laws to be upheld in Arizona RESTRICTING VOTING RIGHTS which of COURSE adversely affects mostly people of color and is a NAKED POWER grab by RACIST republicans, and will now be replicated, state by state. Why would the FCC be any different?

I agree with your statement on this issue. And I hope the FCC will comply with your request. Some thng needs to change, and soon.

—Donald Allan Rumph, Greenville, NC

stop letting white men rule the media and perpetuate racism.

—Chris Rhodes, Chicago, IL

Since 1951, when I first became aware that racism even existed, I have detested it. Now that I am 70 years older, I detest it even more deeply. There is not - CANNOT be - any such thing as an ethnically pure human being. It is pure nonsense to judge individuals or groups by attributes such as skin colour or facial features. It is pure nonsense to conclude that just because one person in a hundred does something, that somehow "proves" that the other ninety-nine are exactly the same. And if anyone ever dared to make such a ridiculous suggestion about "white" people, they'd be howled down!

—Jean Pierre Guaron, Beverly Hills, CA

It is your fault! FIX IT!

—Harold J Tipping, San Jose, CA

Racism permeates every aspect of the media system and our everyday lives it must be addressed in every arena and eradicated.

I am joining with Alicia Bell, of Free Press, and the millions and millions of other very concerned American citizens in asking that you thoroughly investigate the Federal Communication Commission's role in perpetuating racism in our media system.

—Bishop Thomas H. Hooker Jr., Garland, TX

While one parent of mine is not "white", I myself am and get all the priviliges that come with that. However, it does not stop me from seeing the inherent media-bias against people of color rampant in the american media as a whole. It is time to do your job and investigate!

—Stella Karaca, Dortmund,

Tackling this is an important step in saving American Democracy. The time is now!

—Beth A Pensiero, Hendersonville, NC

Now is the time to foster an anti-racist media. Please do your part in making this happen.

—Joan Smith, Greenbrae, CA

Let's have some daylight on everything. The only way to rid our country of systemic racism is to know everything about how we got here.
—Frank Spadazzi, Cranston, RI

Media must be held accountable. Human behaviors are effected. Visual and readable media are held to be true in most of our human brain. Psychological effects of media ARE known factors of our everyday lives and thought processes.
—Michelle Fairrow, Langley, WA

We cannot heal from the violent racist history and present of our country unless the media represents the full reality of the lives of BIPOC folks. FCC policies have reinforced anti-Black and brown media coverage. Time for an accounting of the harms and for change!
—Amy E Martyn, Florence, MA

Obviously our media - print, e mails, etc. etc. sway, inform, and direct. It is IMPERATIVE that we review ALL. A impartial review is necessary.

—Elizabeth Schaeffer, Exeter, NH

Media institutions have terrible track record of biased reporting and representation regarding communities of color in America. This needs to be addressed, and the FCC needs to play a role in addressing it.

—Michael Griffin, Saint Paul, MN

We have a lot of improvement to achieve in this country. Our racist, classist media is certainly near the top of that list. Please make an effort at self-examination. JoAnn Keenan

—JoAnn Keenan, Seattle, WA

It is time that every agency in our government at all levels from local to federal examine its racist and possibly racist actions that have been to exclude, abuse, ignore, or otherwise treat Americans differently based on something as arbitrary as race. It's time! R.Sheets

—Ruth A. Sheets, Brookhaven, PA

Those of us who are not of the Caucasian race of peoples have had to deal with Alien Euro-American White Supremacist in the Americas since the Alien European Christian Christopher Columbus landed in the Americas and began his slave trade enterprise abducting Indigenous Native Americans and selling them as slaves. It's time Alien Euro-Americans take a serious look at their historically racist practices. The FCC needs to investigate their past and present practices and determine whether they have been guilty of racist policies and or practices.

—Joan Wiersma, BOKEELIA, FL

This country was founded on bigotry. The Europeans, from all over, all came to our country and slaughtered I do not how many Indigenous Tribes in this land. And bigotry is still flying sky high with all of the voter suppression being targeted in Minority Communities. And the majority of you Republicans are all AOK with this, Even if you say you are against it. You make that statement in a form of speech to make sure you still can con all your Constituents by saying you were against the suppression of voting. Just the right thing to say with elections coming up. .

—Kelly Arellanes, Bryant, AR

The Federal Communications Commission must investigate its own history of racism and examine how its policy choices and actions have harmed Black people and other communities of color.

—Carmen Nichols, Chandler, AZ

The racist monster that has for too long lived among free thinking Americans must be killed. There's no reason for its existence since our own constitution declares that ALL men are equal

—Mario E Martinez, Torrance, CA

Yes, FCC investigate!!

—Rhea Osland, Laurel, IA

You must investigate how federal policies have contributed to and reinforced systemic racism. You must identify the root causes that contribute to the problem before it can be corrected. A great deal of evidence has already been presented. It is up to you to acknowledge the harm and provide solutions.

—D'Arcy Goodrich, OMAHA, NE

I fully, completely agree with our Black community on this. I would love to see more content on TV that addresses the awesomeness of diversity and how Black culture IS wholly artistic and represents American History. I strongly support the Zinn Project and even more importantly The 1619 Project.

Knowingly or not, we are all complicit in the systemic racism that is America's worst and most indelible stain, as well as one of history's most long-standing and far-reaching crimes against humanity. Therefore, we all—individuals, organizations and government entities alike—have the moral responsibility to examine ourselves without mercy or reserve, and to sincerely endeavor to find a way forward into a level of healing that will allow us to finally fulfill the high ideals to which we nominally subscribe. Because until and unless we do this, we remain a nation of hypocrites and murderers. Thank you.

Most of us do not realize how racist we actually have been raised. We all need to take a deeper look into systemic racism.

—Barbara L. Winner, Arnold, MD

As a white, 71-year old woman, I believe that in an increasingly polarized, inequitable United States where recent racist incidents, especially involving the police, have been so painfully manifest, all components of our society should be examining ourselves for any signs or history of racism in order to proceed with better understanding, and, hopefully, healing. This includes the FCC; it, too, needs to examine any role it has played in creating and perpetuating structural racism. Such scrutiny will be helpful in allowing it to move forward in its role more justly.

—Theresa Kardos, Cortlandt Manor, NY

It is time to stop racism in America.

—Lori Raymond, Loudon, NH

Look, I know that the FCC isn't perfect because most of the major media outlets are white owned & it has black & colored people worried. Every smaller owned outlets have shrunk their outlets & the anti-black still exists in the system, just like the Jim Crow era. That's why Congress must tell the FCC that we address & investigate the role in creating & perpetuating structural racism before there more George Floyds. We know that the FCC has been flawed because of the anti-racism in journalism & their outlets, & we need to change that so that we have equal opportunity to it's communities.

The inaction of the USA to follow thru when the Civil war was (won?) has permitted the racial inequality we are seeing today and in the past. It does not help anything, that those states, that joined in the insurrection against the Union are electing mostly men and soaked in prejudice, are helping to make the laws for all of us to live by. It isn't any surprise we wound up with a corrupted person as the ex-President. Voting rights are being threatened in many States and others are planning to follow suit. Media is part of a free country. A very important part and should be protected in whatever way possible. Otherwise the truth will controlled by the strongest, riches etc..

—Martha M. Jaegers, St. Louis, MO

Through my research in media deserts and examining the community news and information needs, I have uncovered structural gaps in our infrastructure, systems and access that disadvantage communities of color. When examined as a ecosystem of information necessary to participate fully in democratic processes, we find many communities outside of the desirable "markets" in more income-rich communities lack sustainable news and information systems. From access to content, the racism is baked into the ecosystem, feeding off the pain of Black and Brown communities. As a journalist of color, founder of TrollBusters, and principal investigator of the Media Deserts Project, I strongly urge the FCC to examine the complex of systems that keep racism front and center in the national dialogue. That the FCC examine the ways in which geographic violence and racism have perpetuated choices in ownership and news coverage, sources, control and power. We need that close examination of the structural ways in which FCC policies, uneven deployment of digital resources, access and other stonewalling have prevented many U.S. citizens from participating fully from the global pandemic as they are locked out of local resources to connect and be in dialogue on local solutions. We have not budged far from the scathing language of the Kerner Commission report. We are still retaliating against those that would report diverse, inclusive narratives that dismiss or gaslight the lived experiences of people of color, journalists of color and their fight to bring the racism of U.S. culture to the fore. Sell-reflection is essential to growth. There's not an organization or person out there, who can't do better.

—Karla Garcia, Los Angeles, CA

It's time, we began examining the many sources of racism in America. It's past time. So, please, let's do it.

—Richard Schmidt, Concord, NC

The whole truth is not just FCC all at concerns? The people who deeply involved with Terrorism,, racist bigotry, organized paid in full to distract and cover-up corruption! The Good among the bad create difficulties of never-ending violence!! ☐

—JM Truesdale, Charlotte, NC

My husband and I were just talking the other day about a trip we took to New Orleans a number of years after Hurricane Katrina and took a tour of the area that had been seriously devastated. My husband and I are Caucasian, and when we saw the looks on the faces of the black people in the area we were saddened and embarrassed by our insensitivity of the issue. I think that was possibly the first time we recognized how little understanding the typical Caucasian has regarding difficulties minorities encounter on a regular basis. The only thing we can do to correct the situation is to try to think outside of our typical day-to-day life and be as sensitive as possible.

—Edith Smith, Mount Airy, MD

Major media organizations have inflicted harm both within their newsrooms and in communities of color at large. Our nation has chosen to forget. It is the responsibility of the FCC to investigate and correct their own role in in perpetuating dangerous myths and fallacies about black inferiority and perpetuating structural racism. THIS need to be corrected, updated, recognized and shared !! now is the time!

—Geo Pine, San Diego, CA

Let's get this done for future generations

—joseph Dillman, Elbridge, NY

Make the Media responsible for all the DAMAGE THEY HAVE DONE TO THE PUBLIC SAFETY OF OUR COMMUNITY !!

—Carole Smith, Mount Dora, FL

Kinda funny that we're calling on you to police yourselves...but that is you first opportunity to right your wrongs. It will be less easy and enjoyable, the more you resist this plea.

—Christopher Matero, Denver, CO

Please see that Racism, don't happen with our Media, at all!

—Robert Miland Taylor, Clearlake, CA

It can't hurt to look, unless republicans are designing the method.

—Richard Wissler, Middlebury, VT

Big Media is an accomplice to nearly every racist killing.

—Marcus Mulkins, San Rafael, CA

Not that you even give a rats ass...

—Dianne Noblett, Mechanicville, NY

Racism is unchristian and unscientific. It is also stupid and I am tired of stupid.

—Jeffrey P Cody Cody, Chicago, IL

DONE! Real American patriots are SICK of these yayhoos and racists!!

—Ben L. Jones, Cedar Rapids, IA

Thank you.

—Rev. Allan B. Jones, Santa Rosa, CA

We must let the policies and practices that perpetuate racism throughout our society out into the open where they can be examined and corrected.

—Barbara Ed Widger, Manch, NH

Do the correct thing!

—Eldorene McGuinn, Port Saint Lucie, FL

Why are we still fighting the same crap we were fighting in the 50's and 60's? I hope we're better than this. Our media system is totally screwing things up in many ways! Investigate without your pockets open.

—M Rossner, Summit, NJ

It is crucial that the FCC investigate its role in perpetrating racism in our country. The only way to move forward is to investigate, report, recommend actions, act, and provide a means for enforcement!

—N. Devine, Mountain View, CA

It seems to me that, while racism has always existed, the FCC gave it more of a platform when it eliminated the requirement to air opposing views. Also, I'm not sure if I'm correct, but it seems that if there is still a regulation that calls for labeling opinion as opinion, not news, then the it needs much better enforcement.

—Cynthia J Kimball, Sparks, NV

Racial injustice has been a art of the federal government since it's beginning. Decade after decade ignoring this has deprived "different" people of color, language, and culture from the equality they should have received in our nation. It is time for the FCC to do it's part to end the racial injustice by investigating IT'S OWN ROLE IN MAINTAINING RACIAL PREJUDICE IN IT'S OWN DECISIONS AND IT'S SUPERVISION OF THE MEDIA IN AMERICA. ACT NOW, PLEAAE!

—Rev. Gene Anderson Rev, Martinsville, VA

We will no longer compromise our health or accept performative acts. Thank you Media 2070!

—Zion Estrada, Los Angeles, CA

We will never deal with our history of racism without new approaches from the media.

—Christopher Hamilton, Albany, CA

Please check your history on racism. It is not tolerable

—Glenda Lilling, Port Chester, NY

Before we can move forward on the path to a just media system, we must acknowledge the harms done. As Editor-in-Chief of Indigenously: Decolonizing Your Newsfeed, I'm urging the FCC to investigate its history of racist policymaking to explore a healthy path toward #MediaReparations.

—Jenni Monet, Fairbanks, AK

NO JUSTICE, NO PEACE. WE MUST COME TO TERMS WITH INJUSTICES AGAINST ANYONE AND STAMP THEM OUT PERMANENTLY. THEN WE CAN LIVE AS A SOCIETY THAT PROTECTS AND APPRECIATES EVERYONE.

Why in the world would racism exist within a governmental agency? Knowing about this is very disheartening to me.

—Frank Evelhoch II, Mechanicsburg, PA

Here is hoping you all will do the right thing and hand this job off to a responsible third party for investigation. Sherry Oliver

—Sherry Oliver, Hartsville, TN

The FCC investigating its harmful role in perpetuating racism in the US media system is of utmost importance right now needing to be done honestly immediately.

—Donna Bubb, Henderson, NV

This needs to stop immediately!

—Kenny Lane, Cleveland, OH

Racism has no place in society! We are all equal and should be treated that way!

—Janis Staniewski, Rosedale, MD

We are each responsible for addressing the racism of our country - whether as individuals or corporations or regulators. No matter what our responsibilities are, we must examine the actions of the past and how they impact our present.

—Diana Cowans, Bradenton, FL

There definitely needs to be oversight, there are things said that makes me so upset for a long time, where's the FCC when Fox "News" channel is spewing racism and hate? What the hell are they being paid for? Do your damn jobs! Do you think bleeping cuss words is doing your job, those cuss words do not damage as much as racism does!

—Beverly Ramirez, Stockton, CA

Shine the light!

—Ronald Roberts, Rohnert Park, CA

Stop the stupid I say no room for racism in the country.

—Patricia Baldock, Portland, OR

It is important that all have equality. Color of one's skin or ethnic group or gender should not play a part in news.

—Cheryl Pullen, Shepherdstown, WV

Fighting the inherent racism is hard enough. But, racism in the media exacerbates the spread of racism! You must take an active role!

—Marlene Stalter, Temple Terrace, FL

Enough !

—Jonathan Fox, Lancaster, PA

We also need to reinstate a revision to/update of the Fairness Doctrine!!! We must act to stop the proliferation of hate speech and false information!

—Susan Masaracchia-Roberts, Vernon Hills, IL

Equality is the only way to grow our democracy. Systemic racism is not democracy. Do the right thing. Try, you may like it.

—Mary G Mataisz, Pitkin, CO

St op the 'Racism' Money Pit !

—Michael K Bonner, Peachtree Corners, GA

I fully agree the FCC needs to be investigated for its MAJOR role in perpetuating racism in our media. BUT, requiring to investigate itself is a ludicrous, ridiculous concept ... it is the fox guarding the henhouse, and we ALL know how well government is at "policing itself." Besides sheer corruption, lack of transparency and the simple desire to preserve one's perceived power, I simply cannot fathom it will "self-correct" by taking a look at its own actions. Did you learn NOTHING from the Trump fascist era?

—Pamela S Overholtzer, Menifee, CA

End racism now!

—Jon Drossos, Deland, FL

From my point of view the FCC has been a tool for the far right media propagandist . The last time I noticed any action from The FCC was the famous "Wardrobe Malfunction" during the halftime show during the Super Bowl in 2004. Since then FOX "news" has been allowed to broadcast lies that have lead to deaths in the population, extended the pandemic by ignoring lies and propaganda disguised as news. What exactly is your purpose? What are you here for? What do you want? How do you sleep at night? You are letting the country you are meant to serve suffer through your absolute disregard for the truth. You are the main source of what is killing our people and our democracy. Get busy doing your jobs of get out!

—Lee Clingman, Portland, OR

Make it right.

—J.A. Perry, Asheville, NC

This is a clear and present danger to our nation - please, curb your privilege and investigate this honestly

—Ohmar Sowle, Moraga, CA

There are too many that perpetuate racism-they have intellect with out logic and power with out constructive purpose. They must be stopped. Please, reexamine what was done and change!

—Cindi Wagner, White Plains, NY, NY

Look deeply at the racial bias which have prevented people of color in owning news networks.

—Laura Binstock, Haiku, HI

The FCC must look inward and identify policies, rules and regulators that have helped to propagate racism, knowingly or not. This country is being torn apart by a few so called News programs telling lies and using racism dog whistles. It would be even better if there were some type of guidelines/rules that a news station would have to meet in order to entitle itself as "News" because as of now we have clowns masquerading as reporters and plenty of Americans dont know the difference between a pundit and a journalist. National news should have some criteria to ensure it's honesty and it wont abolish free speech. Networks that dont want to label themselves as News could be free to report all the lies they want, but if they prefer the News title then requirements need to be met to ensure the public is not being mislead and critical issues affecting the well being of every American. This does not require ablihsment of free speach

—Lisa MI Gillespie, Meadow Vista, CA

Do the job you agreed to!!

—Ute Loeffler, Binghamton, NY

After the corporations-first FCC we had during the past administration, I hope that you will do all that it possible to move foroward for the American people.

—Elise MacDonald, Nashua, NH

It is depressing that newspaper, broadcast, and cable owners all seem to be white fat-cats.

—Norman Lane, Denver, CO

The time is now.

—Gretchen Stallworth, Las Vegas, NV

FCC to investigate its role for racism in our media system.

—Dudley Herschbach, Cambridge, MA

Yes, we are seeing an increase in persons of color and also women. appearing as news reporters, sports announcers, meteorologists, desk anchors. But that is not enough. We need to see similar persons as owners and board members to address the remaining issues mentioned above.

—Carol Anne Shiels, Montague, MA

How come we have racist horseshit like FOX and the other ultraconservative outlets and Christians owning most of our media. What happened to separation of church and state? Are we going to have to shoot Republican to reclaim our democracy?

—David Lyons, Fortuna, CA

The police in this country are out of control. But the lack of adequate coverage, let alone honest coverage by the major media outlets in this country, is appalling.

—Jonathan Marten, Frederick, MD

FCC, You work for us Americans. Do your Job. Clean up this system please.

—Francis Quinn, Columbus, OH

Systemic racism exists and it must be addressed locally and federally. Until we acknowledge it's existence, it will continue.

—Jackie Garnett, Howell, MI

No excuses.

—Daniel Jordan, Kingston, PA

We must have fair representation in journalism and media.

—Alice Trexler, arlington, MA

I also suggest that the FCC call out--or shut down--so called "Newscasters" when they disseminate false information. Fox "News" comes to mind. If Facebook and Twitter can ban folks who put out misinformation--especially dangerous misinformation--why not mandate the same thing for broadcasters?

—Judith Sawyer, Eugene, OR

At the least, get a fox from outside the hen-house to lead the investigation.

—Tom Wheys, Pioneer, CA

This is what Critical Race Theory is about. Looking at past government actions, assessing the harm done to minority communities, and correcting those policies going forward. It's not a matter of assigning "guilt" but rather a message of "we can do better." And as Americans, that is our "prime directive:" "...to form a more perfect union..."

—Richard Reuther, Pasco, WA

about time!

—Joe Mealy Jr, baltimore, MD

Only by being finally honest re your agency's role in institutionalized racism (to point out just one of the many negative policies it has perpetuated) can it possibly clean up its act and begin to serve us as it is mandated to do.

—T Jeffries, Bend, OR

I believe in this FCC fight against racism

—Melissa Ohler, Levittown, PA

White supremacy must be destroyed!

—Jeffrey Franklin, Portland, OR

This is the beginnings of reparations. It's the least you, the media, can do.

—Allen Kanner, Berkeley, CA

Every complaint deserves to be heard. Yes, perhaps some people may be more sensitive than others - that doesn't mean they're wrong. We all can learn from another person's experience, and maybe become the great country we keep telling ourselves we are . . .

—Henry Ickes, Blairstown, NJ

Racism is in the laws we must change those laws. We've delayed doing anything about this obvious injustice for far too long.

—Richard Van Aken, Southampton, PA

We cannot grow as a nation as long as racism and bigotry rule the day!

—Cindy Kelton, Kyle, TX

Do the right thing!

—Steven R Hibshman, Foster City, CA

the perpetuation of racism and racist policies is a monumental stain on our so-called "Democracy." It is time we all started acting like humans, not malignant cancers upon the face of the earth.

—Delinke J Freed, Rohnert Park, CA

Please address this issue immediately!

—Mr. Michael Burns, Rochester, NY

Systemic racism is engrained in the American culture, including the FCC. If we really want to change this country, it will take every single one of us. Please do your part to part to reverse this.

—Latresha Jackson, Cumming, GA

We must realistically represent our population and cover stories that include all races and ethnicities.

—Stephanie Hammond, Flagstaff, AZ

Time for a self-audit on the implicit and explicit racism of the FCC historically!

—Ken Adler, Redwood City, CA

People are not disposable. There must be equal protection under rule of law for all. Stop disaster capitalism, surveillance capitalism, and shareholder capitalism.

—Michael House, Redwood City, CA

Don't get defensive. Take a close look at yourself.

—Akeem Mcleod, Tampa, FL

Racism has no place in a civilised society.

—Keith Rycroft, Chester,

Americans deserve the truth! Many news rooms offer us disinformation which is held as truth by viewers. Federal policies, lawmakers and regulators add to this deceit. Stop! We simply must see others as an extension of ourselves. We can work together and make truth and fairness happen, for all!

—Paula Morgan, Hollywood, FL

SHAMEFUL!

—Didi Magnin, ,

Imagine a country built on slavery to vote in a racist president who praises white supremacists. Imagine sections of the media supporting him. Could never happen could it?

—David Stobie, Beverly Hills, CA

Media has become demonic in its insidious need to write news so it divides people and creates hatred between groups of people. The need to keep white people superior is rampant- and yes- I AM white!!

—Lucinda Martin, Mears, MI

There is no excuse for the continued racism and sexism so prevalent in FCC policy. End it.

—Trina Semorile, New York, NY

Racism is the number one evil in this country! Stand up and do something about it!

—RI C, Coos Bay, OR

If the FCC has ignored or downplayed this issue, it is time that stops.

—Cathleen Caffrey, Santa Rosa, CA

FCC, Investigate its Role in Perpetuating Racism in Our Media System NOW in Jesus' Name!

—Zareth Jones, Savannah, GA

We as a Nation have become worse due to amplification that is directly related to Social Media!

—Susan M Duke, Sanford, NC

Please, just take an honest look. It was unintentional, I'm sure, but we need to know what we're doing.

—Mary-Alice Shemo, Plattsburgh, NY

This is the least you can do. If you investigate, I'm sure you'll find many decisions that need to be corrected.

—Hugh Gurney, Howell, MI

End FCC institutional racism

—Anna Ryan, Magnolia, DE

Words have immense power. So does the content of what is in the news. Even as a Caucasian, I notice the skew in language and the stories chosen to representing communities of color in a negative perspective. Creating agitation and division between races is the dead last thing this country needs. You, more than most, bear the responsibility for stigmatizing and dividing this country along racial lines by perpetuating racial tropes. You, more than most, have the power to change it.

—Jackie Critser, Vancouver, WA

The FCC has a duty to investigate and reckon with its role in perpetuating racism in our media system. The agency has passed policies that have prevented Black people and other communities of color from owning media outlets, and it has done next to nothing when faced with the racist actions of the broadcasters, cable companies and phone companies that it has the responsibility to regulate. In order to address the injustice of structural racism and move forward, we must understand how the FCC has condoned or been indifferent to racism in our media system by its policy choices and actions, or lack thereof, and how this has harmed Black people and other communities of color.

—Donna B. McKee, Lederach, PA

I stand with Free Press in pressing you to recognize and change the FCC's longstanding policies that have condoned racism in the media system or been carefully indifferent to it. The agency has repeatedly passed policies that have prevented Black people and other communities of color from owning media outlets, and it has done next to nothing when faced with the racist actions of the broadcasters, cable companies and phone companies it has the responsibility to regulate. It's time to quit conforming to this under-the-table unethical standard of operation.

—Sigrid Asmus, Seattle, WA

Eliminate Racism!!!!!!!

—Renee Samuels, Brooklyn, NY

How can this be in 2021??? Do the right thing...

the media creates a lot of world problems they expose are secrets and disrupt the people they the media is the world problem talk to d$$ much

—Walter Hyde, Killeen, TX

Humans possess innate bias, and People must be in dogged-pursuit to realize equality for all.

—Randy Rannow, Boise, ID

The FCC is an example of what we refer to when we say, "Institutional Racism". Controlling what is featured as newsworthy, as well as controlling how criticism is perceived, IS Institutional Racism. Let's get real about changing the situation. Stop flapping our gums, wringing our hands and GET TO WORK TO END RACISM, once and for all! Thank you,

—Helen Hawley, Lewiston, ID

With the changing demographics, please address the systemic racism in your system, so all people have the same opportunities in this country!

—Deborah Dorf, Rosendale, NY

I cannot believe this still goes on today.

—Mona Kattini, Hamilton,

This is so very Wrong,, Black People and All People of Color should Own what ever they want ...

—Bradley Gunter, Minot, ND

Racism in mainstream and social media is prevalent throughout our country and has been for many, many years. FCC has been part of the problem by failing to aggressively root it out. While we cannot completely eliminate racism in the media, we can certainly do more to monitor and sanction it.

—Jerryl Martin, Clayton, NC

If the media didn't have an enormous effect on behavior, advertising wouldn't exist. Please investigate and make changes.

—Theresa Melof, Hillsboro, OR

The history of racism AND misogyny in the media industry is outrageous. I see Fox News and Breitbart and the Sinclair Group, etc. broadcasting names of women arrested for breaking anti-abortion laws in red states, but the names of men arrested for murdering women are generally withheld or not discussed at all (unless it's a man of color killing a white person, and then it's broadcast everywhere). I also see them ignoring the murders of black transsexual women entirely, despite there being a streak of them over the last few years that prove it's a racial & gender hate crime. They'd rather focus on how white people (primarily men) are being repressed or inconvenienced by people who champion people of color and women, or by women and people of color directly. It's disgusting bias propaganda, not news, and it needs to end. Our media needs to be reporting facts, not political agendas. FCC bureaucrats - step up and do your job, ensuring news remains unbiased, objective, and factual or we will demand you be replaced and ensure that happens.

—J Averde, Fremont, CA

Big media is owned by racists like Rupert Murdoch so unless media ownership changes racism will continue.

—Helen Martin, Houston, TX

I am white, for what that is worth, and I am not OK with a U.S. power structure that marginalizes people of color. This includes FCC policies that prevent people of color from owning media outlets (how COULD you?!) and failure to regulate the use of the public airwaves in the public interest. I support the efforts of Members of Congress Jamaal Bowman, Yvette Clarke, and Brenda Lawrence to have the FCC at last look in the mirror, and to make right the injustices it sees there.

—Sarah McKee, Amherst, MA

Racism is embedded in all of our society's systems, and we need to look deeply at it and work to get rid of it John

—John Colgan Colgan-Davis, Philadelphia, PA

THIS IS CRITICAL TO HAVE OUR COUNTRY FUNCTION AS WELL AS POSSIBLE.

—Virginia Hitchcock, Sarasota, FL

The FCC has enormous power to influence what kinds of information and news should be broadcast over a multiplicity of mediums. The FCC should be ensuring that racism and other forms of bigotry play no part in what Americans see & hear everyday. The FCC must be transparent about its own past policies and actions that could have led to racism.

—Joanne Oleksiak, Cherry Hill, NJ

Federal Communications Commission policies prevent Black people and other communities of color from owning media outlets and has been inactive with regard to the racism of broadcasters, cable companies, and phone companies.

—Theodore S. Cochrane, Madison, WI

The FCC has the power. Please end racism in Our Media System!!

—Tom Voorhees, Clinton, WA

Oops! I just finished a lengthy onethinking it was addressed to FreePress, when in fact it was part of a petition to the FCC! I certainly didn't realize that, and would never consider sending an encomium to the FCC! They don't deserve it!!!

—Nye Farrabas, Brattleboro, VT

Media aren't you tired of saying and then showing a Black person who has committed a crime and trying at all cost not to show the face of a White person. Maybe you don't know that people of every color came from the same place. The World began in the Garden of Eden which is in Mesopotamia which is in Africa. Though there are some people are trying to change the place. Read book of Genesis! The World would be a better place if we all worked toward the same goals of doing better and not thinking we're better than someone else. Wake up people, human beings don't own the World and one day you will find that out

—Gail Scott-Gillespie, New Orleans, LA

You are paid by the people to work in an honorable and just way for the good of the people.

—Lynn Canarelli, Jefferson, ME

In order to move squarely towards a just and healthy society, we need to own and acknowledge bad behavior of the past, and then make restitution and changes moving into the future. The FCC n Is not exempt, and must investigate and right its wrongs.

—Lyndsay Dawkins, Davis, CA

Self-examination, self-awareness, and humility are critical to positive, productive citizenry. I join in the call for the FCC to investigate its role in perpetuating racism in our media system!

—Charles Jones, Schwenksville, PA

WE ALL HAVE ALOT TO LEARN ABOUT SUBTAL AND TRAINED RACISM. IT IS TIME TO CHANGE AND GROW

—Sheridan Sonne Rice, wrightwood, CA

Racist - and misogynist - broadcasters are a stain on our country. The FCC should investigate its role and work to change the entire system.

—Scott Johnsen, Sun Valley, ID

This is the kind of issue Critical Race Theory helps us understand. I wish I could print it.

—Sara McLarty, Lubbock, TX

What are you thinking? This is the 21st century, not the 19th. It's bad enough that you grant licenses to media outlets that are blatantly racist, but to retain regulations that limit ownership of media outlets to Caucasians is reprehensible. FIX THIS NOW OR GO TO HELL WHEN YOU ARE JUDGED BY A POWER HIGHER THAN ALL OF US!

—Ms. Adele E E Zimmermann, Embudo, NM

please investigate your role in perpetuating racism in our media system. Thank you

—Barbara Cogdell, Fayetteville, NC

Please do the right thing by investigating racism and bigotry in our media institutions? Please help stop the hateful rhetoric toward God's children? This must cease NOW!

We urge you to please be aware of how the FCC has played a role in perpetuating racial discrimination in our Media System and put in place measures to make the system fair. Fair is the American way!

—Rev Sandra R Mackie, Gettysburg, PA

To be more accurate, several police "officers" enthusiastically cooperated with and, in fact, actively supported the smugly smiling fiend, as he cut off the blood to Mr. Floyd's brain with his knee. How convenient: as his cohorts held the terrified Mr Floyd on his side, so, the carotid artery was most accessible to the death lock: undoubtedly pressure on that very carotid artery by the head or arresting officer's, knee, no? Mr. Floyd's begging for mercy, his longing for his mother were no distractions: he had truly surrendered.

—Mr. Stuart M. Chandler, Los Angeles, CA

Keep up the great work Media 2070!

—Jed Alexander, Burbank, CA

It's a long history! Better get crackin'!

The FCC MUST BE INVESTIGATED IMMEDIATELY, GIVEN THE GROWTH OF RACISM IN OUR MEDIA SYSTEM! NEWSROOMS OF ALL MEDIA, MUST STOP PERPETRATING THE MYTH OF BLACK INFERIORITY. GET THE TRUTH OUT. IT IS EASIER TO FACE THE TRUTH AND APOLOGIZE THEN REGULATE.

—Sallie Robbins-Druian, Palm Springs, CA

We cannot move forward on the values we say we believe in as a nation until we acknowledge our racism -- past and present.

—Edwina White, Sacramento, CA

Federal policies can make a great difference in fighting racism, our media is a key part of influencing how our citizens think. Change the rules for media and that can result in changing the minds of people, it can at the very least stop supporting racism in language and biases.

We need to do all we can to stop systemic racism

—Gail Ladd, Jupiter, FL

Our chances, though seemingly insurmountable at times, of eradicating racism depend on our society understanding and adopting antiracist thinking. Our antiracist actions involve examining and dismantling any and all policies and laws that do not uphold racial equity. The FCC needs to be bound to this mission.

—Christine Ferraro, Lansdale, PA

Enough is enough. Let's acknowledge the racism that exists and make the changes needed to eradicate this disease.

—Leigh Hidalgo, Cambridge, MA

Please work toward fair and equal ownership and representation of media sources by Black and brown people.

—Rebecca Davis, Madison, WI

Our outlets of information are foundational in creating a fair society. It is the responsibility of leadership in the media and the institutions overseeing it to understand where racist policies from the past still affect current decisions and to make sure current and future policies are fair to everyone.

—Allyson Maurer, Rochester, MN

Do the work and change the systems to be anti-racist and more equitable.

—Michelle Auld, Minneapolis, MN

Do your part and investigate your role in perpetrating harm against Black folks and all peoples of color with the racist policies that have governed media. Be accountable.

—Melanie Green, Berkeley, CA

This is the moment to look at how the FCC has perpetuated racism, false history and a skewed view of current events. Please take action.

—Susan J Lynx, Minneapolis, MN

Reinstate the Fairness Doctrine!

—Eleanor Friedman, New York, NY

We have put down minorities, blacks and others. Time to allow opportunities to ALL Americans. We especially have kept them poor, by preventing them from acquiring Inter generational wealth which whites have enjoyed for gerations and hundreds of years. Time to level the playing fields!!

—Pamela Dilley, East Lansing, MI

I support the letter calling for the FCC to address its role in creating and perpetuating structural racism. Just as each of us must our own individual racism.

—Louisa Beckett, South Portland, ME

Hold racist members of the FCC accountable and support Black journalists and Black folks who consume this media.

—Mara Santilli, Trumbull, CT

The FCC needs to do more when faced with the racist actions of the broadcasters, cable companies and phone companies it has the responsibility to regulate. It's time for the FCC to reckon with its harmful history and correct course for all American Citizens. Please take action now.

—Amanda Wilder, San Pedro, CA

This investigation is crucial to reckoning with our past as Americans and moving forward into the present. Not even the future, but being honest about where our media system lives today. It's crucial.

Please take responsibility to examine & change your role in continuing policies as noted above that damage all of us.

—Paula Lilley, Portland, OR

Remember: just because the problem isn't your fault doesn't mean it's not your responsibility.

—Sallie Rachel Goetsch, Oakley, CA

The investigation and self-examination of the FCC's roll in perpetuating racism is about time. You must take it seriously.

—Mary Ni, Allston, MA

The last federal administration and its citizen advocates set this nation back decades in the achievement of racial equality. It is imperative that we move with alacrity and firmer purpose to regain lost progress.

—Leila Zai, San Diego, CA

The committee, which advises the FCC on barriers historically disadvantaged communities face in "accessing the full range of opportunities made possible by communications, media, and technology," signaled discrimination is one of them. That came in a statement on the civil rights demonstrations that have rocked the country in recent weeks. "Recurring racial violence and hostility against the Black community, compounded by the disparate impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on communities of color, have lain bare the ages-old social, health, and economic inequities and systemic racism that continue throughout the country."

—Robin Sekerak, Deland, FL

Since a police officer murdered George Floyd last year, the ensuing racial reckoning that's taken place in our country has forced public and private institutions to acknowledge their history of racism. Journalists of color have challenged several major media organizations to address the harm they've inflicted within their newsrooms and in communities of color at large. But media institutions alone are not responsible for the anti-Black racism that exists in our media system. Federal policies and the choices that lawmakers and regulators have made have also played a foundational role. This is why we are calling on the Federal Communications Commission to investigate its own history of racism and examine how its policy choices and actions have harmed Black people and other communities of color. We urge the FCC to conduct this investigation in the spirit of President Joseph Biden's executive order on racial equity, which directs government agencies to examine how "entrenched disparities in our laws and public policies, and in our public and private institutions, have often denied that equal opportunity to individuals and communities." Thank you.

—Ali Cook, Dewitt, MI

The amount of control the FCC has over media companies has caused serious harm over the years and has actively worked to prevent the forward movement of civil rights and social justice. The FCC MUST make changes in order to correct course and remove the racist and draconian policies that have and are still causing active harm. Please investigate past actions, past rulings and legislation, law suits, etc. and look at the harm those things have caused, the change they have prevented from being made, and what can be done moving forward to remove that harm from continuing and to try to make amends for the harm of the past.

—Alison Marie Diem, Ypsilanti, MI

It's important for all to have a voice - through voting, media, communications, and gathering. Thank you for considering our petition.

—Jon Ryan, Boston, MA

Facing the inequities of the past is necessary for addressing the problems now.

—Virginia Meyer, Lone Tree, IA

Black leadership is crucial in our fight for equality. Please consider updating your policies to ensure you are not perpetuating racism within your systems. Inaction is a choice to be complicit.

—Kathryn Westall, Huntington Beach, CA

Please do so to learn from your history and move forward without repeating the same mistakes.
